Transcript

Black Friday is when many people go shopping to get good deals, but it's both good and bad. The good part is that you can save money and buy holiday gifts. It's exciting, and you can also shop online. But the bad part is that the shops can be very crowded, you might have to wait in long lines, and people often spend too much money because of the low prices. Also, Black Friday can be bad for the environment because it causes more pollution and waste.
